Guard Troops Patrol Newport After Jazz Riot

Youths Battle Police, Marines

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—National Guard troops Sunday patrolled the streets of Newport in the wake of riots in which thousands of jazz buffs fought on one side and the U.S. Marines, police and fire fighters on the other.

The disturbance broke out when some 12,000 youths, unable to gain admittance to the already packed Newport Jazz Festival, hurled beer cans and bottles at police.

The riot finally was quelled early Sunday after police threw tear gas bombs at the milling throngs and fire fighters washed them down with big fire hoses.

At the request of city officials, the Navy furnished 50 Marines from the Newport Naval Base—where President Eisenhower is scheduled to begin a vacation next Thursday.

Neighboring communities furnished manpower from their police departments.

The state police sent a detachment of troopers.

At least 30 persons were treated for injuries, the majority suffering cuts and bruises from beer bottles and cans and other missiles.

More than 200 were arrested and transported to numerous jails in a continuous shuttle of patrol wagons.

Finally 170 were held overnight. All but 15 were released Sunday. The others were held for district court on charges ranging from violent assault to reveling.

At midday Sunday, the city

Reds Step Up Propaganda Drive In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communists are stepping up their propaganda in the United States.

A recent U.S. government check spotted about six million propaganda packages entering this country from Communist-bloc nations in 1959.

The packages contained 10 million items of printed matter, an 18 per cent increase above the previous year and nearly double the 1955 rate.

These figures do not include Red material shipped in from free countries, first-class mail which federal inspectors are barred from checking, or the sizable but unknown amount of propaganda coming off Communist presses within this country.

The Soviet Embassy press department churns out releases for mailing to an estimated 5,000 persons deemed to be opinion-molded.

The embassy also handles the monthly publication of the magazine "U.S.S.R." whose 50,000 copies are distributed across the United States in exchange for the distribution of similar numbers of the U.S. government's "American Illustrated" magazine in the Soviet Union.

The Worker, a Communist newspaper published in New York, has a circulation reported at about 15,000. Some 4,000 copies are air freighted each week to the U.S.S.R., where they can be displayed as samples of U.S. press opinion.

A companion weekly, People's World is printed in San Francisco. Its circulation is said to be around 7,000. The Communist party hopes to boost readership of its papers through a circulation day after a three-day official visit to Yugoslavia.

Johnson May Make It Official This Week

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson will officially put himself in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination from Washington this week before moving on to Los Angeles, it was reported here Sunday.

He is expected to fly to Los Angeles toward the end of the week to begin courting delegates to the national convention which opens in the Sports Arena July 11.

An active but unannounced candidate for more than two months, Johnson ranks as the chief rival in delegate strength to the front-running Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

NSC Views Heavy Toll With Alarm

Wisconsin Crash Fatal To Father And Six Children

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths on the nation's roads mounted at a record-breaking clip Sunday as the July Fourth holiday passed the halfway mark.

The National Safety Council calmed the pace alarming and said:

"This year's figures are threatening to set an all-time high for a three-day Fourth of July period."

The three-day Independence Day record was set in 1955 when 407 persons died in the 78-hour period.

The rate was running far ahead of the pace set last Memorial Day, when 367 persons died in a similar three-day period.

Deaths also exceeded the pace of the last 78-hour July 4 holiday in 1958 when the toll was 370.

Before the weekend period began, at 6 p.m. local time Friday, the council issued a gloomy estimate: 370 persons could die in traffic accidents.

For comparative purposes, The Associated Press ran a test survey two weeks ago of accidental deaths over a non-holiday weekend of 78 hours duration. Then 348 persons died in traffic accidents, 25 in boating accidents, 81 from drowning and 63 in miscellaneous accidents. This was overall toll of 522.

Multiple accident fatalities swelled the grim count. A father and six children perished in a car-trailer collision in Wisconsin. In San Francisco, a truck-auto collision took the lives of a father four children. Triple fatality accidents were numerous.

While deaths from boating, drowning and miscellaneous causes swelled as families flocked to beaches, parks and picnic areas the pace in those categories ran far below that of the road fatalities.

And no deaths were reported in the once dreaded fireworks category. No fireworks deaths were reported in 1959 or 1958 either.

He said the ban of outsiders would continue until the restoration of quiet is assured.

More than 200 were arrested and transported to numerous jails in a continuous shuttle of patrol wagons.

Finally 170 were held overnight. All but 15 were released Sunday. The others were held for district court on charges ranging from violent assault to reveling.

Runaway Hubby Insurance Taken Out By Housewife

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—Housewife Margaret McDowell says she has taken out an insurance policy against a runaway husband.

But first, husband David will have to come home to pay the instalments.

Mrs. McDowell, 26-year-old mother of three, said her 29-year-old husband vanished three weeks ago.

She says she expects him to return. And when he does, her insurance against another desertion will go into effect.

If he runs away again, the policy gives her cash to pay the mortgage on their home and 5 pounds ($14) a week income.

Mrs. McDowell said she took out the policy with a local broker.

Returns To Greece

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Premier Constantine Karamanlis of Greece returned home Sunday after a three-day official visit to Yugoslavia.

A companion weekly, People's World is printed in San Francisco. Its circulation is said to be around 7,000. The Communist party hopes to boost readership of its papers through a circulation day after a three-day official visit to Yugoslavia.

Russian Cruiser Joins Vast Hunt For U.S. Plane

BODO, Norway (AP)—A Soviet cruiser Sunday joined a vast air search for a U.S. reconnaissance bomber with six men aboard missing for two days in the arctic wastes north of the Soviet Union.

The Norwegian coastal radio station at Vardo reported the Soviet cruiser Kapitan Afanasyev message she had set course for the last known position of the plane.

The search by U.S. and Norwegian planes centered in the Barents Sea, 275 miles north of the Kola Peninsula and the same distance west of Novaya Zemlya Island, both Soviet territory.

The six-engine RB47 jet sent its last message Friday from the area. The Air Force in Washington said the plane was measuring magnetic fields in the arctic.

Kennedy's Reply To Truman On TV

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Broadcasting Company said Sunday it would cover Sen. John Kennedy's July 4 news conference in New York because of its news value, not because he has demanded equal time to reply to former President Harry S. Truman.

Kennedy sent telegrams to major networks Saturday shortly after Truman's Independence Day news conference, which was broadcast and televised nationally.

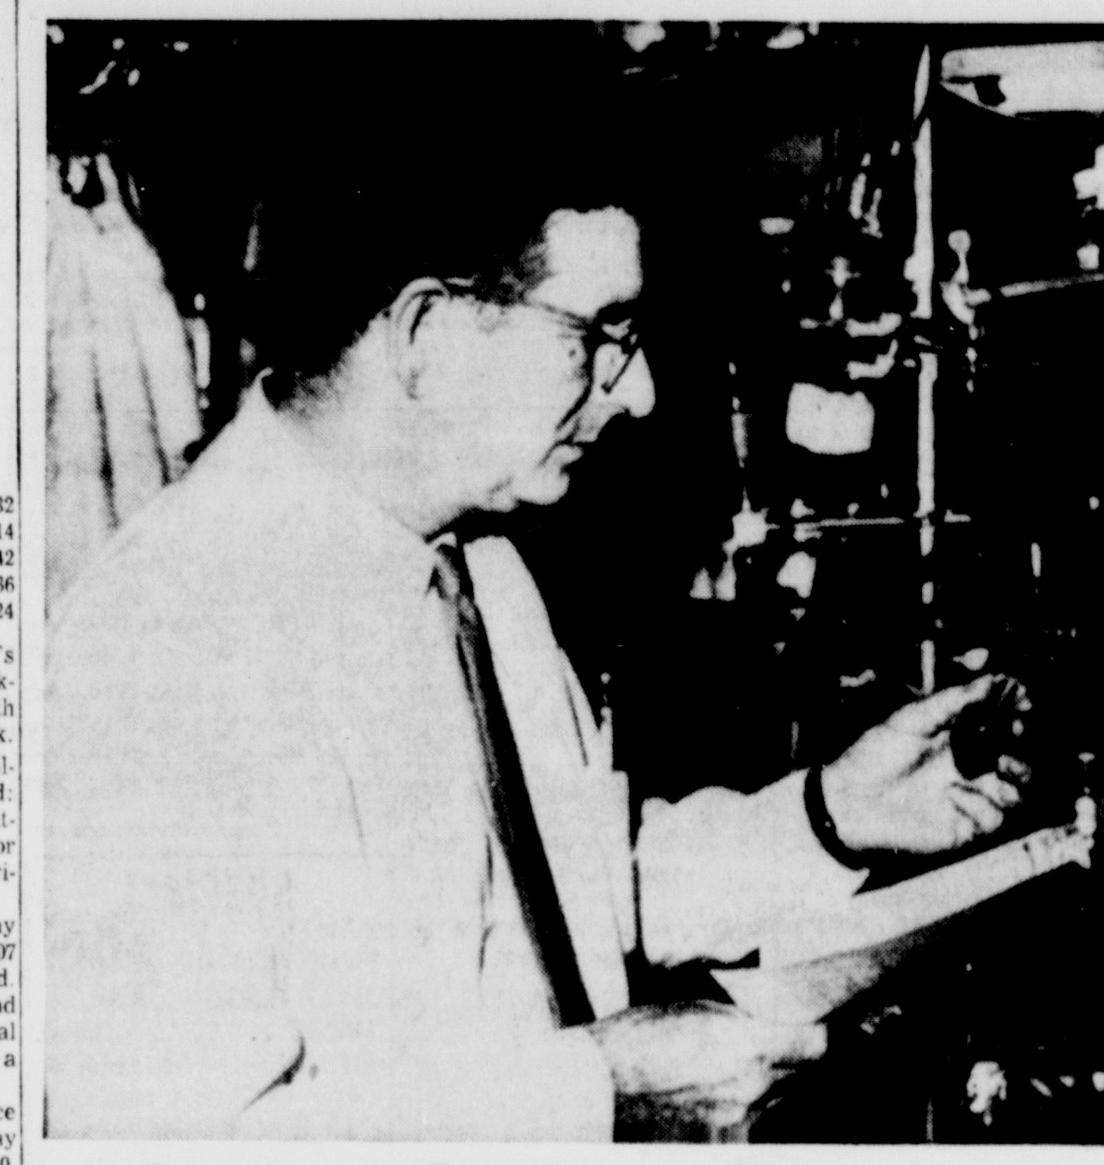

He demanded equal time to reply to Truman's charge that the Democratic national convention had been rigged in Kennedy's favor.

The airmen aboard had two hopes for survival in the cold vastness of the Barents Sea. They could have come down near land or could have escaped from their bomber in rubber boats, with which the reconnaissance bomber was equipped.

South African Youths Defile British Flag

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The British flag was torn down, stamped on, spat on and thrown into the Indian Ocean at Durban Saturday by a group of South African Nationalist youths.

The demonstration came as tempers rose in the battle over whether this country should beCOME a republic divorced from the British crown.

Hawaii's star takes its place in the field of blue on the 184th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence signed by delegates from the 13 original states. The new flag has five rows of six stars and four rows of five stars.

First to fly the new flag, beginning at 12:01 a.m. Monday, are the national flag over the national Capitol and the flag over the Senate chamber, the other over the House wing.

During the day, thousands of other 50-star flags will zip up and down on temporary flagpoles at the Capitol. They will be distributed later by various congressmen as special mementos to their constituents.

It was in 1814 at Ft. McHenry that Key wrote the national anthem by the dawn's early light.

In a speech prepared for the 12:01 a.m. flag-raising there, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton drew a contrast between the significance of the new flag and as he phrased it, "the foul and bloody chronicle of the Communist camp."

It's tradition for a new state to get its star in the flag on the Fourth of July following its admission.

Special ceremonies later in the day are scheduled in Hawaii and Philadelphia.

For the nation, this Fourth of July is a holiday—with the traditional picnics, swimming, rodeos, political speeches, family gatherings and the annual trek on the highways.

Residents near three mountains in Maine—the nation's easternmost state—vie for the claim to being first to raise the new flag at sunrise. Maine's Gov. John H. Reed is the stellar attraction at Maine's northernmost peak, 1,661-foot Mars Hill, because it is nearest his Fairfield base. Other ceremonies are at 5,265-foot Mt. Katahdin, near Millinocket, and on 1,530-foot Mt. Cadillac, outside Bar Harbor.

The Air Force planned to raise a flag at Poland Springs, Maine, fly it by jet to Hawaii and raise it 17 hours later on this historic site at Hickam Air Force Base.

President Eisenhower sent the original official 50-star flag to Philadelphia to fly over Independence Hall Monday. It will be given later in the day to Sen. Hiram Fong (R-Hawaii) for transfer to the archives of his state.

50-Star Old Glory Flies Over Nation

Hawaii Celebrates Entry Into Union

By The Associated Press

A new Old Glory, with 50 stars, flies for the first time on July 4 across an America made far wider by its newest state. And Hawaii proudly celebrates its admission to the Union.

Khrushchev appeared to be on the verge of tears during his visit to the former concentration camp. He sat grim-faced as Leopold Figl, president of the Austrian parliament who spent four years as an inmate of another Nazi camp, described the horrors of concentration camps.

Algerian Rebels Feared Under Peiping Influence

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Western diplomats in North Africa fear Red Chinese influence has a strong foothold among the leadership of the Algerian nationalist rebellion.

The feeling expressed by several Western embassies is that even if a compromise peace is reached between the rebels and France, Chinese influence will not be eliminated.

The rebel cabinet is expected to issue a communiqué Monday on preliminary cease-fire talks with France. The rebels are openly disengaged.

American officials in the Tunisian capital believe increasing contacts between the self-styled rebel government and Red China have opened the door to slow but permanent Chinese infiltration.

The rebels have been using the threat of Red Chinese aid to pressure the West toward a compromise in Algeria. Top rebel missions have been traveling to Peiping.

Municipal Assn. Calls For Atom Clearing House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call was sounded Sunday for a coordinated national program to help local communities obtain maximum benefit for the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The American Municipal Assn. urged that the Atomic Energy Commission take the lead in setting up such a program, which also would help the communities cope with radiation and other potential problems.

The association suggested its plan would require the collaboration of professional and industry groups as well as federal agencies and municipal interests.

In a special report on the community impact of the peacetime atom, based on a study made at the request of the AEC the association said: "The effects of this new field of technology may be on a major scale, influencing the economy and long-term development plans of localities, as well as creating changes in the immediate functions of local government. There is now no major national program dealing with these overall implications of the locality impact of atomic energy development."

Declaring that, for one thing, "a central clearing house of information on the local impact is urgently needed," the report said:

"At present it is necessary for local officials to make requests to many different (state and federal) offices in order to find out what information is available on such basic matters as (radiation) standards, training and the like. Then, the information is often incomplete."

"A central clearing house of information in this field should be set up on a national basis at the earliest possible time, and its location should be publicized."

The association said that its study, begun in December 1958, shows that while the nation still is only in the early stages of atomic energy development, the peaceful applications have reached substantial proportions and are increasing."

Murder Charge Filed

HURLOCK, Md. (AP) — State Police filed murder charges Sunday against Roosevelt Harris, a 35-year-old Negro from Benton, Miss., in the fatal shooting of another Negro at a migrant farm labor camp near here.

The victim, James Manning, 36, was shot Saturday night at the Shiloh Labor Camp and died enroute to Cambridge-Maryland Hospital. Manning died of bullet wounds in the chest and side.

Kishi Successor Deadlock Unbroken

TOKYO (AP) — Who will be Japan's next premier? The general feeling is that anyone selected by the Liberal Democrats would follow a policy much like Kishi's.

Holding the cards in this struggle are Kishi and his brother, Finance Minister Eisaku Sato. They probably control more than 110 of the 286 lower house members and a large portion of the upper house Liberal Democrats.

Three names have been mentioned:

Trade Minister Hayato Ikeda an uncompromising economic administrator and follower of pro-Western ex-Premier Shigeru Yoshida;

Party vice president Bamboku Ono, a wily veteran of domestic political wars, and:

Mitsuru Ishii, easy-going former commerce minister.

Ikeda, who has the support of business men, was the man to beat 10 days ago. Since he received the open backing of Yoshida, however, there have been reports of an Ono-Ishii front against Ikeda. Few commentators give such a combination a 50-50 chance of taking power.

The public has shown little interest.

Porridge-Eating Champion Hailed By Scottish Town

FORTROSE, Scotland (AP) — The Fortrose Town Council hailed a new porridge-eating champion Sunday and challenged the outside world to match his mouthfuls.

A silver cup award went to Rodger Munro, 42, who led 21 other hardy Scots by gulping down 22 bowls of the thick gray breakfast food in 30 minutes. The heaping servings would have filled eight large plates.

The council issued a challenge to all comers to take on Munro at a contest to be held here annually.

Religion TodayDean Of Harvard Divinity School Sees Technology As Challenge To Humanity

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Associated Press Religion Writer

In a world obsessed by scientific marvels, the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Miller will settle for an cage, the mad rush, are all consequences of man exchanging his old piece of driftwood.

He prizes the elemental wonders. He likes to sit on a rock and gaze at the sea. But he's no recluse, by a long shot.

In an age of speed, efficiency and engineering prodigies, he has taken on a highly influential role today in bringing the gospel to grips with the overshadowing influences of technology.

This involves, he said, a "revolt against the mechanization of man."

Dr. Miller, a tall, lofty-browed scholar with reflective blue eyes behind rimless glasses, is finishing his first year as the new dean of Harvard Divinity School, Cambridge, Mass.

He sees the precision-tooled, modern mode of life as a main challenge that Christianity must meet, and master.

"The principals and powers are bent on dehumanizing us," he said.

Mass organizational techniques, he said, draw people together but reduce deep, personal relationships; the reliance on statistical evaluations enshrines quantity sights on the inter-action of the of doing things blurs all fine distinctions.

"The rat race, the squirrel in London was known as the English bastille.

Its advances, he said, have up-set traditional religious concepts; interstellar space probes have robbed the imagination of a place for God, while psychiatry has bared the unreasoning, disturbing inner reaches of the human psyche.

"We must practice a new asceticism to keep the world in its place, to serve the spirit, not exhaust it—to regain our humanity."

Although Dr. Miller's schedule demands a fast plane when he has to go somewhere, he doesn't think he covers any ground that rethink against the mechanization of when he walks," he said.

He shuns the organizational tide. Joiners, he said, do "many things superficially, nothing thoroughly. You have to choose and eliminate a number of things if you want to come to grips with anything profoundly or intimately."

Philadelphia-born Dr. Miller, 60, an American Baptist, was long a pastor (in New Jersey and Massachusetts), professor and author of numerous books before his new job. He started an engineering education before switching to theology.

This may have added to his evaluations enshrines quantity sights on the inter-action of the

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Young Liza Minnelli, daughter of Judy Garland and Vincente Minnelli, is a heroine with the passengers of a trans-Atlantic jet. Judy tells me that Liza and her friend, Ellen Shacklett, took off from Idlewild garden, and took off her shoes Airport with four other friends for Paris and when they were two hours out it was announced that one of the engines was gone and they would have to return to New York.

The panicky passengers were sent to the Forest Hotel and during the wait Liza and Ellen put on a show, singing and dancing, and cheered them up so much that when they took off again all travelers went aboard. The girls received compliments from the pilot for their help.

Liza, Ellen and their four girl friends are spending the summer in the French Alps after a visit with Vincente Minnelli in Paris.

It's definite—Mervyn LeRoy takes on the direction of "The Devil at Four O'Clock" with Frank Sinatra and "maybe" Spencer Tracy. Mervyn was able to say "yes" to producer Freddie Kohlmar to guide the Columbia drama because Warners agreed to postpone the starting date of "Majority of One."

This sounds like a very pleasant job for all concerned as it starts shooting in Maui, a very pleasant place to be working particularly for Hawaiian Isle addicts like Merv and Sinatra. As for Spencer Tracy—it all depends on how quickly screenwriter Liam O'Brien can whip up the script on "Devil." Tracy has promised Stanley Kramer he'll make a long tour plugging "Inherit the Wind." I just have a hunch Spence won't do the picture.

The break-up of any marriage, especially where there is a child, is always sad and I was sorry to hear about Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger's parting, although they haven't been happy for some time. I remember when Jean came to my house on her first visit to America. She was about 17, and was on her way to Tahiti to make a movie for J. Arthur Rank.

She told me how much in love she was with Jimmy (Granger's real name is Jimmy Stewart), but Zsa Zsa Gabor told me that she, her sister Eva, and their mother will have a meeting with her father in Vienna in August. "The Russians have given my father permission to come out from behind the Iron Curtain because he went back to Budapest as he agreed to do the last time we saw him," said Zsa Zsa.

"We will give him a good time in Vienna. He is married again and has another family, but he and mother are still good friends. I understand he's very happy with his new wife."

Zsa Zsa said they leave in July since she also will discuss a movie in Europe.

That fine actor Torin Thatcher, featured in the Broadway hit "The Miracle Worker" with Anne Bancroft, planes to Hollywood for "Jack, the Giant Killer."

Thatcher, who was in "Witness for the Prosecution" and other movies, plays a heavy for Eddie Small. Already signed are Kerwin Mathews for "Jack" and Judi Meredith to play the princess. Eddie will release the popular fairy tale through United Artists.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Depositors in the nation's newest bank can't expect to draw interest—only posthumous gratitude.

They are the 15 to 20 million with impaired hearing. They're being asked by the Deafness Research Foundation to will their inner ear bones to researchers anxious to cross new frontiers in the fight against hearing loss.

Mrs. Hobart C. Ramsey, foundation president said in an interview that the first nationwide program of temporal bone banks stems, in part, from the action of the late Margaret Sullivan, the actress who willed her ear bones for medical study.

Miss Sullivan suffered from a kind of hearing loss that was corrected partially by surgery. The operation that gave her new hearing powers in one ear is called a fenestration.

During the procedure, doctors fashion a new hearing window by carving through bony material that immobilizes delicate inner ear bones.

Mrs. Ramsey has had two such operations—each correcting clogging that had stopped up both ears.

After restoration of her hearing,

Mrs. Ramsey dedicated herself to the cause of research. She learned that scientists engaged in such research urgently needed "specimens" to further their studies.

"There are many gaps in present knowledge of the underlying pathology in cases of deafness and disturbances of equilibrium," she said.

"It is to fill some of these gaps that a program of bone banks for inner ear studies is being set up."

The ear structures also will implement surgical training of ear specialists.

Japan Masses Indifferent To Leftist Demonstrations

Editor's Note: What was the ordinary man, the common man, in Japan doing while the recent rioting was going on against Premier Kishi and the U.S.-Japanese security treaty? An experienced Japanese reporter for The Associated Press says it was as if Japan were two different worlds. His report follows. The final article in a series will appear.

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP) — While the world watched the giant left wing demonstrations in Tokyo with fascination and wondered what road this country would ultimately travel, the people who form the backbone of the nation went about their daily tasks.

Only a handful of the nation's 98 million people were involved in the demonstrations in the major cities.

Even in Tokyo, the demonstrations centered around three or four sites, a few minutes walk away from the shouting and screaming, there were quiet streets where old folks watched the babies. It was as if two worlds were living side by side.

Outside the cities, the rural folk saw the demonstrations on television, unaware of or indifferent to the issues of communism or allegiance to the West.

Concerned with their rice planting or store tending, they gave little thought to the questions of anti-Americanism or military revival or the fate of parliamentary democracy.

These are the people who make up Japan. The nation has 53 million eligible voters and in post-war elections the turnout has ranged between 70 and 80 per cent. The great bulk of the votes come from the "silent people."

Hideo Yoshikawa, 64, owner of a country grocery store, 30 miles from Tokyo, said:

"Naturally we read a lot about the demonstrations but they don't concern us in the country. They're making a fuss about the new (U.S.-Japan) security treaty, but I'm not for or against it. Frankly I don't know what it's about."

This kind of ignorance has led to criticism of the government of Premier Nobusuke Kishi as aloof and arrogant and unwilling to take

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(Copyright 1960 By The Chicago Tribune)

Q. 1—As South you hold:

AK 5 ♠AQ 9 8 5 4 3 6 4 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass Pass 4 4 4 4

Double Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. Your preemptive bid has relied upon partner that you are not to be relied upon for any defensive strength and he is therefore doubling his own power. The fact that he holds the king of spades should be a pleasant surprise. For you to go on to five hearts would be an unwarranted usurpation of authority.

Q. 2—As dealer you hold:

AK 7 4 2 ♠Q 9 7 7 5 4 7 5

What do you bid?

A—One spade. The hand has too much merit for a preemptive bid of three spades. It totals 13 points, 11 in high cards and two for the double ace and has the advantage of being in the top suit which always tends to act as a barricade against the opponents.

By contrast, leftwing arguments against it were equally in generalities but had appeal because of a deep-seated concern among Japanese over involvement in another war.

Even so, people outside Tokyo and other major cities, were too busy making a living to care much about the demonstrations.

If rural populations tend to vote conservative in Japan it is perhaps even more so because of the lingering influence of feudal ideas.

The tradition of loyalty and obedience of father to son, of people to ties, continues strong outside urban and industrial centers.

Though weakened since the war,

this pattern of thinking shows itself in elections where, as one country gas station manager observed:

"Japanese tend to vote for the individual candidate, not so much for the party or its policies about which they know nothing."

Japanese on the whole look unquestioningly for leadership in their politicians because politics is their business, as governing was the business of feudal lords. And if they follow their politicians unquestioningly, so did their ancestors the orders of their superiors.

These are the people who will follow whatever force emerges the winner in the continuing domestic struggle for power. Yet these are the people, who by the power of the vote, control the destiny of their country—a vigorous, highly-industrialized, prosperous country in the swirling tensions of the cold war.

The Impulse To Freedom

Towering above the holiday atmosphere of the Fourth of July will be the undying impulse toward freedom. Our ancestors declared it 184 years ago, and went on to win it for us. We maintain it against every challenge of power.

Its potent force among all peoples hems in the threatening tyrants more surely than air bases.

A fringe of colonies along the Atlantic seaboard, peopled by refugees from political, religious and economic tyranny, successfully shook off the clutch of the despots nearly two centuries ago. It was a mortal challenge to the then accepted theory that despots had divine rights.

Against the warnings of old world pundits that America could not succeed in substituting apparent mob rule for the orderly reign of kings, this nation did set up, secure and expand the philosophy that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Under this beneficent impulse we have divided the authority of the government to prevent any department from seizing tyrannical powers. When any group in government or out of it appears to be accumulating too much power, the citizens can, and sometimes do, slap that group down with their votes. This is the genius of our people.

During the first half of the Twentieth Century shadows of revived despotism darkened segments of the world. Twice they were reduced by wars against tyrants. New shadows are spreading out. Within these shadows men are organizing to keep alive the freedom impulse and make the tyrants fearful of overreaching themselves.

It is the hope of the world.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The National Birthday

The Fourth of July has become a pro forma holiday, its origin being taken for granted. Perhaps it is because we no longer have any orators. Most speeches sound as though they were manufactured in a speech factory. Oratory is of the heart and soul. Had Lincoln said: "87 years ago, the Founding Fathers met in Philadelphia to write a document," the Gettysburg Address would not have lived in the memory of man as a masterpiece of the art of oratory. Nor would it have mattered much if Daniel Webster had said: "We stand together or else."

In our time perhaps the only true orator is Winston Churchill but then he is only half American genetically and not at all culturally. The finest American orator of this century remains William Jennings Bryan who had the advantage of a glorious voice and a finesse of gesture which is a valuable asset to the speaker.

The best extemporaneous speech, in many years, was Everett Dirksen's "Don't Do That to Us" speech at the Republican Convention of 1952 when Robert A. Taft was deprived of his nomination for the Presidency by the machinations of Governor Thomas E. Dewey and a Wall Street-Madison Avenue axis, but it was not great oratory of the style, let us say, of Edmund Burke or Bourke Cockran, the Tammany orator.

So the Fourth of July suffers because it was customary on this occasion in every city and village of our country for young and old to foregather to listen to a reading of the Declaration of Independence and an address by an honored citizen to fit the occasion.

The reading of the Declaration of Independence made the fete almost a religious occasion because repetition of the same words becomes in the very nature of things, ritualistic. Every child of my generation, when he or she heard the words, "When in the course of human events," what followed was known by heart. And just as the repeated prayer, whether spoken in Hebrew, Latin, Greek or English, is always the same one, so the Declaration of Independence was always the same document, but it related us to God and eternity and made preserved us a nation.

We drank pink lemonade, shot off fire-crackers which came from distant Canton, bands played and everybody knew that he belonged. That was the point of it — the belonging, the being a part of something big and noble and important.

It was during the Franklin D. Roosevelt Administration that the minds of our young people were conditioned to internationalism — we are all one people, not made by the Creator, but a product of an interplay of cells, genes, chromosomes, and all that kind of thing, working casually. Thus, life itself is an accident and everything that occurs in life is an accident. There is no cause; there is no purpose. That is right which succeeds; that which fails is wrong. And with such ideas, young people became very confused. Statistics replaced the moral law and when the statistics replaced truth, nothing was left but reality — a very ugly condition at best.

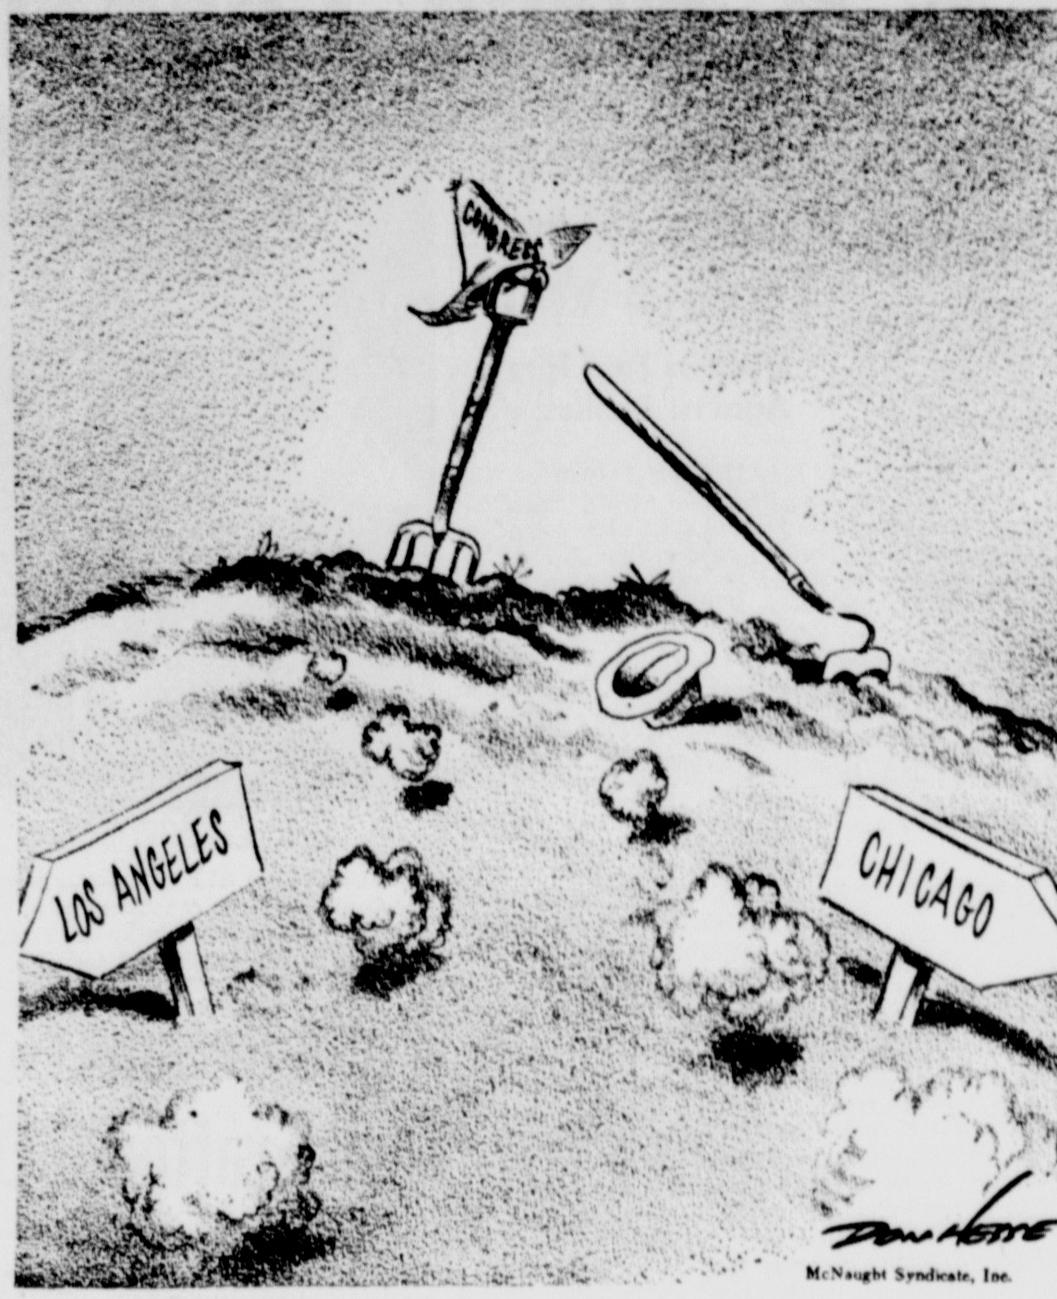

For reality is the makings of what may become truth when corrected by law and decorated by idealism. Thus brick and mortar and the ugliness of steel beams are all of the essence of reality but none of it is what we call truth until they are put together in a beautiful building that stands erect and noble and seems to reach heavenward. It takes much of the spirit and the mind to differentiate between reality and truth, but only the so-called Beatniks, the authentic ones, are, in this generation, making a search for the definitions. They do it with mystifying language and external ugliness, bringing upon themselves opprobrium — but what they run from is reality; what they seek is truth.

The United States is a young civilization. It is a syncretic civilization, an amalgam, before the American personality is formed as distinctive. Probably, this personality will come out of the West — not the Middle West or the South, but from those states which are closer to the Pacific and therefore farther from the tired cultures of the Eastern areas which are dominated by New York.

So shall in these areas find a more aggressive celebration of the birthday of our nation.

The Call To The City Was Just Too Much

a conference at Geneva which only a few months ago was insisted upon by Khrushchev as a means of achieving peace by disarmament.

To leave a negotiation summarily just as the West was about to submit new proposals is to display very bad manners. In fact, the actions of the Soviet government give the impression that its leaders are boorish persons. Maybe they haven't emerged as yet from the era of Mongolian savagery in which their ancestors lived. It is astonishing that the Prime Minister of Great Britain should find it necessary to write to Premier Khrushchev.

"I must tell you frankly that I am deeply disappointed, as well as surprised, at your decision to withdraw from the negotiations. Here is how Mr. MacMillan has just replied to the Soviet Pre-Hyndman's Merchants extended their winning streak to seven games by whipping Mt. Savage's Old Germans at Mt. Savage yesterday by the score of 11-3 and moved within a half game of first place in the Pen-Mar Baseball League when the front-running Barrelville Old Exports were upset at Beall High Field by the Frostburg Merchants, 5-3.

Barrelville has won ten and lost three games while Hyndman has played one less game and holds the runner-up spot with a 9-3 record.

Hyndman gathered 16 hits in routing the Old Germans who were charged with ten errors in yesterday's game. Gene Stair, Clay Leydig and Lou Hite collected three hits each, and Ray Morgan had two for Hyndman. George Bishields rapped a triple, double and single and John Witt and Fay often each hit safely twice for Mt. Savage.

Jack Lowery, who pitched until the 7th inning, received credit for the win. Charley Rice, who came on in the 7th, yielded only one hit in three innings, fanned five and issued two bases on balls.

Peace Tames Leaders

Ralph Peace, one-time Penn State twirler, notched his second straight win for Frostburg as he turned back Barrelville with five well spaced hits and fanned five.

Jesse Markley, who went all the way for the Old Exports, yielded nine hits, fanned one and issued two bases on balls. Gary Wolford and Jim Rice shared four of Frostburg's nine hits. Warnick blasted a triple and Wolford rapped a two-bagger. Markley had two hits for Barrelville.

Twenty-six hits were recorded in the game at Moorefield. The home team racked up a total of 15. George Hott led the assault with three singles and a double. Bob Keller got three singles and batted in three runs. Harlan Hott also hit thrice and Will Newhouse obtained a pair of one-base knocks.

Jones and Lowery shared four of the 11 Salisbury blows and the latter had two RBIs. Atwood hammered a triple for the Pennsylvanians.

Harold Mongold went the route for Moorefield and fanned nine. Jim Robertson was tagged with the loss.

Zembower's Hit Wins

Jim Zembower's single followed Mel Nee's walk, a sacrifice and error to give Centerville the run that beat Flintstone in an extra inning contest.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Dad, William Matthews, who passed away over year ago on July 30, 1959. We've heard you pray so many times. "Dear Lord please take me home. I've been in pain for so long, I just can't stand any more. Then on the morning God heard your fervent prayer, And He called you home. To be with His forevermore. But we miss you Dear Dad. So very much. Please excuse all That we had here on this earth. Sadly missed by his Children

Boy, 4, Dies Of Injuries In Hospital Here

Earl Shilling Hit By Car Saturday

A four-year-old Homewood Addition boy, who was struck by a car near his home Saturday evening, died from his injuries yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital here.

State Police said Earl Eugene Shilling, son of Clayton and Evelyn Pearl (Gordon) Shilling, died at 9:15 a.m. from a ruptured spleen and liver and abdominal hemorrhage.

The youngster was struck by a car operated by Anthony Leroy Minnick, 28, of RD 1, Meyersdale, Pa., about 7:30 p.m. Saturday when he suddenly darted into the road from Wills Creek where he had been swimming with his mother.

The accident occurred on State Route 36 about three-tenths of a mile from the intersection of U.S. Route 40, state police said.

Trooper C. R. Mauzy of the LaVale barracks said no charges have been filed against the driver of the car pending further investigation of the fatal accident.

The Shilling lad was born in Cumberland on June 5, 1956. Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Marilyn Lee Shilling, and a brother, Wayne Lee Shilling, both at home.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Zeigler Funeral Home in Hyndman, Pa. Rev. Dr. Orville G. Swartley, pastor of Homewood Addition Chapel of the Church of God, will officiate and interment will be in the IOOF Cemetery, Berlin, Pa.

City Voting Rolls Drop

Voting rolls of the City of Cumberland decreased three to 9,400 during June, according to a report by Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk.

Only nine persons, six men and three women, registered during the month and the names of 11 deceased voters were stricken from the books.

Also removed from the records was the name of a voter who moved out of the city.

Registered on July 1 were 4,955 white males, 4,290 white females, 89 colored males and 66 colored females.

Robert Heflin Is Promoted By Railroad

Robert M. Heflin, formerly with the stores department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Cumberland, has been appointed lumber agent and assistant to the purchasing agent with headquarters at Baltimore.

His appointment, effective immediately, was announced by H. A. Lockhart, the B&O's general purchasing agent. Mr. Heflin succeeds E. B. Isenogle, who has retired at the age of 65 after 47 years of service with the B&O.

Mr. Heflin joined the B&O at Grafton, W. Va., and served in various positions there in the stores department and motive power department until 1923, when he was promoted to chief stores department clerk at Gassaway, W. Va.

During the next 19 years he was associated with the stores departments of the B&O at Benwood, W. Va., Cumberland and Baltimore, and in 1943 he entered military service.

Returning to the railroad in 1946, he was appointed division storekeeper at Grafton, and moved to Cincinnati, Ohio in a similar capacity in February 1949. He returned to Baltimore in October 1949 to serve in various supervisory capacities until last January, when he was promoted to assistant general store-keeper.

Where It Comes From

Your County's 1960 Dollar

... And Where It Goes

Charts Show How County Dollar Comes And Goes

Now that the majority of Allegany County's taxpayers have paid their county real estate and personal property taxes, they are more conscious than usual of the fact that it costs a good deal of money to operate the county government.

To make it easier for the county taxpayer to know where the county's dollar comes from and where it goes, Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, prepared charts which sliced up the incoming and outgoing county dollar.

A significant increase in the protection of this county's young citizens against paralytic polio is being provided by a series of immunization clinics sponsored by the Allegany County Health Department.

The recipient of more than 70 pints of blood, Mr. Miller was subject to violent hemorrhaging during a period when he underwent five operations for stomach ulcers. All of his stomach was finally removed in a rare operation, and was replaced by a small retention sack at the beginning of his small intestine.

"I'd still like to thank those 70 or more wonderful people who gave their blood to keep me alive," Mr. Miller said last night. "But of course you seldom know whose blood you receive."

A year ago, Mr. Miller weighed 104 pounds. Being six feet tall, he was a little more than a shadow then. Now he is up to 160 pounds, eats almost anything in normal amounts, and is able to work a garden that measures about 50 by 150 feet. He also does many other chores and odd jobs around his home.

"I wish people could see me now," he said. "I think it would show them that when you give blood you're only helping yourself, because you never know when you're going to have sickness or accidents upset your life. When you have trouble like that, you just can't live without blood—and you can't get it if there's no one in the blood bank."

Mr. Miller joined Red Cross officials in urging area residents not to forget the blood collections during the festivities of the holiday weekend—and not to become involved in accidents that will put them on the receiving instead of the giving end of the blood program.
